Publications and Presentations:

There are various types and forms of publications and presentations that contribute to forwarding IST's goals. This category measures various types and forms that represent dissemination of project results. These include journal articles, book chapters, archival publications, and conference publications. Additionally, reports for sponsors which get published by the sponsoring agency and web publications also count towards establishing ISTs reputation. The list above is not all inclusive, but dissemination of research results is critical to growing IST's reputation. In an effort to build IST's reputation, diversity in publication outlets is also important.
