

Mentee Resources

Mentorship Objectives

- Provide faculty with personal, intellectual, and career development guidance to achieve scholarly advancement and personal fulfillment
- Give empathetic and honest feedback
- Contribute to faculty drive, motivation, culture, and community
- Promote diverse relationships and facilitate sharing of knowledge and resources
- Challenge mentee growth and encourage accountability

The Mentoring Skills Model

(Phillips-Jones, 2003)

As a mentee, it is your responsibility to take ownership of your learning and development needs. Starter goals are okay, but optimal goals would follow the SMART goals format.

The faculty and mentor can develop these goals together:

- Specific
- Measurable
- Attainable
- Relevant
- Time-Bound
