COACHE 2024 – Priority-Setting Committee

Over the past nine years, UCF has issued the Collaborative on Academic Careers in Higher Education (COACHE) survey in 2015, 2018, 2021, and 2024. The COACHE survey is a tool used by many academic institutions to gather faculty perceptions of their workplace experience.

The purposes of the 2024 Priority-setting Committee are to examine the new 2024 COACHE survey results and identify priority areas that will support UCF faculty. This committee will prepare an action plan by the summer of 2025. This action plan will be shared with the Provost during the summer of 2025 with a goal of implementation of action items in the fall of 2025.

Committee members will serve throughout the 2024-25 academic year, and some service may extend into the summer of 2025. Members are expected to attend all meetings. As stated in other guidelines, any committee member who misses more than half of the scheduled meetings is presumed to have resigned from the committee. Committee members may also be called upon at other times to offer feedback, input, and guidance.
